

GREECE DECIDES TO INTERN ALL SERB REFUGEES

So Berlin Hears and London Accepts the News As Probable — Proof of Greece's Stand Will Come Very Soon

SERBS MUST RETREAT SOUTH OF MONASTIR

Report From Athens Quotes British Legation As Announcing Economic and Commercial Blockade By Entente

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, November 21. — While the fall of Monastir is not definitely confirmed, it is taken for granted here that the Bulgarians will soon occupy that city, if they have not already done so, and at least a part of the Serbian army will be forced across the Grecian border.

This will bring to a head the question of Greece's attitude toward Serbia and force a reply to the as yet unanswered question as to what attitude Greece will take should Serbian troops seek refuge within the Grecian borders.

Advices from Athens state that the popular opinion throughout Greece continues to be strongly in favor of the Entente, but that the attitude of King Constantine and Premier Skouloudis make it very plain that no help for Serbia nor for the cause of the Allies at this time is to be expected.

Through German sources it is learned that the Grecian policy will be to disarm and intern any Serbians who may cross the line. A despatch yesterday to the Frankfurter Zeitung from Athens announces that the Greek minister of state has already definitely informed the chiefs of all the foreign legations in Athens that Greece, in order to maintain the neutrality of her territory and prevent any fighting taking place on Grecian soil, has decided to disarm and intern in internment camp all Serbian troops retreating across the line.

The Bulgarians have gained ground and the Katchinak, Tetovo and Babuna passes are held by them, earlier news of Bulgarian successes in these districts being now confirmed. The Kosovo plateau, where the last organized Serbian resistance is expected, is apparently open to the invaders.

The Austro-Germans, in their advance, are on the borders of Novipaza and are approaching Pristina.

An Exchange Telegraph despatch announces that the Athens papers have published a British legation communication announcing that the Entente Powers have declared and are preparing to enforce an economic and a commercial blockade of Greece, as a sign of the resentment felt at the failure of Greece to fulfill its treaty obligations to Serbia and to live up to the promises made by Premier Venizelos, in the name of Greece, to the Allies.

Reports from Constantinople, published yesterday in Berlin, say that the French, at one point of the fighting, opened up fire upon the Serbians, mistaking them for Bulgarians.

Cettinje reports, according to the Berlin press, that the Montenegrin capital is soon to be moved to Scutari, Albania, to escape capture in the event of the Austro-German invaders turning west into Montenegro.

FALL OF GORITZA EXPECTED SOON

Italians Bombard Incessantly and Vienna Reports That Civilians Suffer

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
PARIS, November 21.—The fiercest fighting of the war today is being waged on the Austro-Italian front for possession of the Austrian city of Goritza, the fall of which is expected before many hours have passed. The reports from Rome are that the Italians are gaining one point of advantage after another, although at heavy cost, while the Austrians are fighting desperately, with a realization that the fall of the city will mean a disastrous break in the defensive line, through which Italy is ready to pour half a million men.

The Italian gunners have, up until the present assault, spared the city as much as possible because of the preponderance of Italians amongst the residents. This regard has cost the Italians heavily, the Austrians taking advantage of it to utilize the undefended parts of the city for their military purposes.

Now, according to the reports that have been received from Vienna, through Switzerland, the Italians are bombarding the whole city in a tremendous artillery attack.

On Thursday and Friday the bombardment was incessant, reports Vienna, the shells falling into all parts of the city by the thousands. Many women and children have been killed by the Italian shells, while the number of fires have been caused and the number of houses that have been destroyed are countless.

The Italian reports state that even yet the Italians are confining their bombardment to those sections of the city where the Austrian troops are concentrated and where they have knowledge that munitions are stored.

ITALIAN DECLARATION OF WAR ON GERMANY COMING

LONDON, November 20.—The Berner, Switzerland, correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Agency wires that it is understood that Italy will declare war on Germany within a very short time.

SISTER OF ANCONA HAD CLOSE SHAVE

Pursued By Under-water Craft—Fog Saved Her

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
MADRID, November 21.—The Italian liner Verona, which belongs to the same line as the recently destroyed Ancona, had a narrow escape from a submarine in the Mediterranean yesterday, being pursued for some time and eluding the submarine only by the aid of a thickening fog.

The Verona had nearly two thousand persons aboard, including fifteen hundred Italian reservists. She was bound from New York for Naples.

The danger of the liner became known early yesterday morning, when wireless calls for help were sent out by her and picked up by a number of ships and shore stations. She reported that she was being pursued by a two-torpedo submarine, which was racing after her on the surface and gradually gaining, although she was running under. As full speed as her engines could develop.

Considerable concern was felt for her safety and British destroyers were rushing to her assistance when she wirelessed that she had managed to reach the cover of a fog and had eluded her pursuer.

VILLA LOSES A THOUSAND MEN

Attack Upon Hermosillo Ends Disastrously For Him, But He Wins At Cananea

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
NOGALES, Arizona, November 21.—Reports from the south state that General Villa has been disastrously defeated in his attempts to capture Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, having been repulsed with a loss in killed, wounded and prisoners of more than a thousand men.

On the other hand, the Villistas at Cananea have defeated El Carranza's men sent to wipe them out and have broken out of the trap. According to reports of the Villa wounded, some hundred and fifty of whom have reached here from the scene of the Cananea fighting, the Villista army of Cananea is now being rushed to the defense of Villa at Hermosillo.

Obregon had sent General Rodriguez against the Villistas at Cananea, expecting an easy victory. The instructions given to Rodriguez were to capture the Cananea revolutionists and then proceed to Nogales, Mexico, where a portion of Villa's army remains.

GERMANS USE DOGS TO GUARD BRITISH CAPTIVE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
LONDON, November 21.—That the prisoners in at least one of the German prison camps where some British are confined, are not well treated and have not been furnished with sufficient clothes for the cold weather there is now experiencing are statements officially made by James W. Gerard, the American ambassador at Berlin, a part of whose duty it is to make periodical inspection of the prison camps and report upon them to the British government.

The report which has just been made by the American ambassador upon the camp at Wittenberg, where some 4000 prisoners are kept, has been made public through the British press bureau.

The Ambassador Gerard is quoted as saying in this official report: "The impression which the prison camp at Wittenberg made upon me is more unfavorable than I had expected prior to my visit. There are 4000 prisoners in confinement there, of whom 278 are British. I found that the men were insufficiently clad and were suffering from the cold."

"The prisoners complained to me that the German guards brought dogs into the camp at night, against the attacks of which the prisoners had no protection. Cases where the dogs had torn the clothes of the prisoners were related."

"The Germans admitted that they used dogs to help guard the camp, as setting that the use of dogs was necessary for the preservation of order."

PRESIDENT WILL ASK REPUBLICAN AID

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, November 20.—Clearly indicating his determination to win Republican as well as Democratic support to his program for national military defense, President Wilson has asked Senator Jacob Gallinger, the New Hampshire veteran Republican, and Representative James Mann of Illinois, the Republican house leader, to confer with him upon defense matters before congress opens.

He is making a fight for non-partisan action in favor of the plans he has worked out with cabinet heads and military and naval experts. He plans also to confer with the Republican members of the military and naval committees of both houses.

GRIM PROOF OF ITALIAN CLAIMS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
TORONTO, Italy, November 21.—A grim reminder of the tragedy enacted in the Tyrrhenian Sea when the liner Ancona went down, with the Austrian submarine which had destroyed her firing upon the lifeboats, came to shore here yesterday. This was one of the Ancona lifeboats, containing thirteen dead bodies. Some of the bodies carried shell wounds and the boat itself showed where it had been hit.

SCION OF A FAMOUS FAMILY ON SHINYO

(By Wireless to Hawaii Ship.)
SAN FRANCISCO, November 21.—Yorikida, son of Marquis Rinrin and nephew of Prince Tokugawa, is a passenger aboard the Shinyo Maru, which sailed for Yokohama yesterday. Another passenger of note is Akihiro Sato, who will make a series of flights in Japan, one in Tokio, in the presence of the Emperor and the Imperial Household.

Representatives of the Japanese of California are now in Kentucky hunting for a pair of horses suitable as gifts from the Japanese of California to the Kaiser. Horses thought fit for the purpose could not be secured in California.

OLD ELI GOES DOWN IN DEFEAT

Pile Up Score of Forty-One While Yale Fails To Gain a Point

Harvard Makes it Four Straight While Howling Mob of Fans Look On

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS, November 21.—With her back field showing the best form during the entire football season and her gallant captain Eddie Mahan, playing the game as he never played it before, Harvard's great football machine tore through every defense of the Yale eleven yesterday and hung up a score of 41 to 0.

While the battle was a great one, it was simply a case of the strong against the weak, and the tremendous score of the winners brought the bitterest disappointment to the supporters of the Blue.

The defense of Harvard was almost perfect. The squad showed a wonderful ability in following the ball and Harvard took advantage of every Yale fumble. Once Yale broke through the defense and got the ball on Harvard's six-yard line. Four times the huskies of Yale attempted to move forward but could not gain an inch and finally they lost control of the ball. It was then speedily kicked out of the danger zone by a Harvard man and from then on the Sons of Eli never had a chance.

Eddie Mahan was great. His clever running and ability to smash through Yale's line resulted in five touchdowns for the Crimson. Yale showed his wonderful ability to boot the ball by kicking four goals.

A stiff wind blew across the field and with the toss of the coin Harvard won and kicked with the breezes. Five minutes after the play had commenced, Harvard was grinding out the touchdowns and proving to the vast crowd that the Sons of Eli were soon to be hopelessly beaten.

Left end Harte of the Crimson scored the first touchdown of the game, five minutes after play had begun, right half Bingham of the Blues secured the ball but fumbled it. Like a flash Harte pounced upon the pigskin and sped down the field for the touchdown. The rapidly in which Harvard went into action and began scoring seemed to dishearten Captain Wilson and his men and the Yale men plainly showed that Harvard's aggressiveness and team work had upset Yale's plans for carrying on the gridiron campaign.

With the end of the first half, Harvard had chalked up 27, while Yale had failed to tally.

The whole story of the game centers itself in the fact that the Crimson team had a consistent and variegated attack and was true and steady on the defense. On the other hand, Yale failed miserably to show anything like real football attacking or defensive playing. The Sons of Eli were slow and awkward in clearing the line and Yale's backs could not gain an inch of ground, while the ends were hopelessly unable to lend any aid in the interference or on the defense, to check the runs of Mahan's charges.

Harvard demonstrated its superiority in every angle of the game in such a convincing manner shortly after the game started that gloom settled over the rooting sections of the Blue and their only hope was that the team would be able to at least score a few points and not taste the bitterness of a complete shut out.

Barring the stiff breeze which blew across the field, the day was an ideal one, and the vast stadium presented a scene long to be remembered. Crimson and blue naturally were the prevailing colors and the followers of the two teams expressed their confidence in their favorites with a singing of college songs, college yells and blaring of bands.

Just before the call of the game the entire Yale rooting section arose to their feet and sang the Blue's favorite battle cry, "For God, For the Country, For Yale."

Harvard Ruled Favorites. In the betting Harvard ruled a 5 to 4 favorite, with Yale given more than a fighting chance on account of the great game the team played against Princeton a week before.

As a football game, the contest was an exceptionally clean one, there being few physical injuries. Harvard did not score in any way and the team went through the four periods without any noteworthy hurts for any of the men. Atherton Gilman of Honolulu played a great game at left tackle for the winners.

Few Injuries In Game. "Pie" Way and Guernsey of Yale were forced to the sidelines through injuries, the latter being replaced by Scott at full back, and he was the only man on the Yale team to show any effectiveness at advancing the ball. Even he was not able to gain consistently, so great was the defense of the winners.

It was a well-deserved victory for the Crimson and the great defense of the team surprised even their most ardent admirers and particularly the critics. Line smashes, end runs, mass and open plays, forward passing and the kicking game, being well-developed and finely executed.

Crimson's Fourth Victory. Yesterday's struggle on the gridiron between the Harvard and Yale elevens was the thirty-sixth between the two and it marked the fourth straight victory for the Crimson over the Blue the aggregate score of Harvard being 112 against 5 for Yale, the scores of the four games being as follows: 1912 Harvard 29, Yale 0; 1913 Harvard 13,

HILSTROM DEAD BECOMES MARTYR

I. W. W. Plan Great Parade and Funeral Thursday Through Chicago Streets

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
CHICAGO, November 21.—The body of Joseph Hilstrom, the I. W. W. leader, who was executed in Salt Lake City on Friday morning, following the refusal of Governor Spry to intervene and despite the efforts of various labor unionists, Socialist leaders and others throughout the country, will be brought to this city for burial and it appears evident that the I. W. W. leaders here intend to parade the body as that of a martyr to the cause.

The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Industrial Workers of the World, the general organizer, Wm. D. Haywood, having charge of the preparations. Hilstrom's attorney offered to pay the expenses of the funeral and erect a shaft over the grave if the burial be held at Denver, Colorado, but the I. W. W. has turned this offer down, believing that the funeral will attract more attention to what is termed "the judicial murder of a comrade" if held in Chicago.

According to Haywood, addresses over the body of Hilstrom will be made by labor orators in eleven different languages. The funeral will be held on Thursday and it is the intention to parade the body through the streets to the cemetery for seven miles, with many thousands walking for that distance behind the hearse.

Yesterday the body of the executed murderer was carried by many hundreds in Salt Lake City.

PRESIDENT'S PEACE POLICY A TOAST

(Special Cable to Nippon Jiji.)
SAN FRANCISCO, November 20.—Representatives of participating countries met at the Japanese pavilion on Thursday evening. President C. C. President Moore said that this should be done in recognition for the efforts the President has made to preserve universal peace.

FIREBUG SHOOT AND KILLS A RANCHER

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
REDWOOD CITY, California, November 20.—William McClellan, a ranch foreman, was today stabbed to death by an unidentified man. It is claimed that McClellan found the stranger setting fire to the woods in the Lahonda valley, and grappled with him. A conflagration has resulted and the posse sent out after the man is also fighting fire.

STATE DEPARTMENT SOON HAVE THE FACTS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
WASHINGTON, November 20.—The state department received news that the Italian government has notified Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page of all the circumstances under which the liner Ancona was sunk by an Austrian submarine, with the loss of 208 lives.

Yale 1914—Harvard 36, Yale 0; 1913 Harvard 41, Yale 0. Yesterday's defeat was the most crushing suffered by Yale in the hands of Captain Mahan's men, but Yale has the record for the largest score, having scored 48 against 0 for Harvard in the game of 1881.

Yale Has Won Often. Team for team, since the introduction of football at the two institutions and in their previous contests, Yale has shown itself as possessed of the greatest winning team. Since 1875, when the first game was played, up to and including yesterday's struggle, the two teams have met thirty-six times. Yale has been returned a victor in twenty-one of these games, Harvard has won ten and five have been scoreless for both teams.

Harvard's success on the gridiron during the past season is a great tribute to Captain Mahan and his wonderful playing at half back has earned him the title of the greatest player in the position in the annals of the game. Mahan is noted for his great speed and football knowledge and his excellent ability to boot the ball.

Despite the loss of Hardick, Penneck, Trumbull and Bradley, a four who were wonders at the game, Mahan built up a great aggregation as the score of yesterday's game indicates. Yale lost several good players including Brann and Leggett. Troubles too beset the team during the middle of the season, and at last resort Coach Hinkley was relieved and Captain Wilson took charge of the squad. Sheelin, a star of other days too came into the game as an assistant to Wilson in trying to build up a winning combination, and while both men did well, their efforts were not enough to overcome the work of Mahan.

Line Up At Start

Following was the line up of the two teams with the start of the game: Harvard Position. Y. Harte, L. E. K. Church, Gilman, L. T. S. Sheldon, Cowen, L. G. J. Sheldon, Wallace, C. G. J. Sheldon, White, Dabnum, R. G. J. Sheldon, Black, Parsons, R. T. J. Sheldon, Way, Soney, R. E. J. Sheldon, Allen, Watson, Q. R. J. Sheldon, Nastrand, Dales, Q. R. J. Sheldon, Wilson, King, Q. R. J. Sheldon, Hingham, Mahan, Q. R. J. Sheldon, Guernsey.

PROMINENT HILO OFFICIAL DEAD

George H. Williams, Land Agent, Died In Morning and Was Buried In Afternoon

George H. Williams, territorial sub-agent for the land districts of Hilo and Puna, Hawaii, died at the Hilo Hospital, Hilo, at half past three o'clock yesterday morning, according to a wire from message received here by Land Commissioner Tucker. The funeral was held in Hilo yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Hilo Masons, Rev. S. L. Desha, pastor of the Hilo Church, officiating. Interment took place in the Hilo cemetery.

Mr. Williams was a very sick man during the past two months and had been continuously in the Hilo Hospital that length of time. Death is ascribed to a severe type of pneumonia. He had also suffered from ear trouble, which necessitated a number of painful operations during the past five or six years.

The deceased was born in Germany but came to the United States when a child, his parents being American. He was sixty-two years old. He was a sailor before the most when he came to Hawaii in 1875 and located permanently in the islands. He lived in Kohala for 1.5 years as luna and head luna on a number of plantations and then, for two years, he was head luna on the Heela Plantation on this island.

In 1892 he was made deputy sheriff of the island of Hawaii, with headquarters in Hilo, the late E. G. Hitchcock being sheriff of the Big Island at the time. Following the revolution of January 1893, which resulted in the overthrow of Queen Liliuokalani, Hitchcock was made marshal under the provisional government, which was then headed by Judge S. B. Dole as president. Williams succeeded Hitchcock as sheriff of the island of Hawaii. In 1900 Williams was appointed deputy tax assessor for the district of South Hilo. He was a candidate for the office of tax assessor in November, 1903, but was defeated by the Home Rule candidate, W. E. Edmonds. The latter's victory was short lived, however, for the supreme court knocked out the first county act and Williams returned to office as deputy under the then assessor, Nathan C. Willfong.

On February 1, 1904, Williams became sub-luna agent, succeeding E. D. Baldwin, now of Honolulu. He held this office until his death yesterday. The deceased was a charter member of Kilauoa Lodge No. 330, F. & A. M. of Hilo and the Hilo lodge of Knights of Pythias.

In his public life, as deputy sheriff, sheriff, deputy tax assessor and sub-luna agent, George H. Williams was an efficient and zealous official. His police administration of Hilo, and, later, of the whole island of Hawaii, remains an excellent record. The same may be said of his work in the tax and land office. He was the terror of land speculators who sought public domain as pseudo home steads and then fast developed the speculative streak.

Williams spent a fortune in trying to raise coffee successfully in Kaunama, back of Hilo, later pulling out the plants and raising sugar cane. He owned considerable real estate in Hilo and the surrounding country. He was a devoted and successful father. His wife died several years ago.

Land Commissioner Tucker yesterday cabled to Joseph G. Andrews, ranger of the first land district, instructions to take charge of the sub-luna office and to act temporarily as sub-agent. Andrews was Williams' assistant for some time and will likely succeed his former chief as sub-luna agent.

CHINESE GUN MAN HAD HILO EXCITED

HILO, November 20.—Leong Wah Chong shot and seriously wounded L. Ah Hip, a prominent Chinese merchant here, Friday afternoon in a row over a business transaction. Leong then defied the police, holding them at bay on Front street in the presence of a great crowd for half an hour, until Deputy Sheriff Martin fired two shots at him and drove him into Moehau Park, where he was surrounded and captured.

Leong fired three times, two shots striking his victim, one bullet passing through the liver and the other lodging in an arm. Ah Hip will recover.

EARTHQUAKE AND VOLCANIC SIGNS SHAKE UP YUMA

Southern California and Parts Of Arizona Feel Series of Seismic Shocks, While the Old Crater Emits Smoke

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)
SAN FRANCISCO, November 21.—A series of sharp earthquake shocks was felt through the southern and southeastern sections of this State and Arizona last night, the seismic disorders centering in the Yuma district of Arizona. The earthquake was accompanied by evidences of volcanic action, these being reported from Yuma and El Centro.

The Yuma despatches state that a previously extinct crater, known as Old Volcano, within the rim of which lies a body of water called Volcano Lake, has begun to emit smoke. This crater is in Mexico, just across the line and south of Andrade, California.

From El Centro come reports of an upheaval, accompanied by clouds of white smoke.

Reports from the Imperial Valley announce that the quake was felt strongly there, although no damage has been reported from the valley or from the other districts where the disturbances have been apparently the strongest.
